The Auxiliary of Southwest Regional Medical Center Makes Donation to GCMHF.

At its annual luncheon held on June 18, 2013, the Auxiliary of Southwest Regional Medical Center (SRMC) presented Greene County Memorial Hospital Foundation with a $10,000 donation. This donation, which brings the total amount for the fiscal year to $15,000, will be used to provide tuition assistance awards to Greene County students who are pursuing medical degrees and plan on returning to Greene County upon graduation.

Each year, GCMHF grants these awards based on a variety of criteria in hopes of attracting the best and the brightest of Greene County to practice their medical training in the area where they grew up. This year's recipients of the CRNP tuition assistance awards are Julie Beiter, Kristin Hopkins and Brad Mackey. All three are Greene County residents and have spent most of their nursing careers in Greene County, and plan to continue doing so once they have obtained their CRNP license. The recipient of this year's nursing tuition assistance award went to Rebecca Lash, who is attending Westmoreland Community College.

"My Bike" Program

On June 19th, GCMHF was able to award adaptive bicycles to five local children with disabilities. Charlie LaVallee, the Chief Executive Officer of Variety the Children's Charity was thrilled to receive support from GCMHF and to be able to provide the kids with customized adaptive bikes, and in time for the 4th of July holiday.

Receiving bicycles were Zoey Cramer of New Freeport, Jaden Hayes of Graysville, Rusty Herrick of Rogersville, Dai'Shan Silen of West Finley and Charles Wolfe of Graysville.

The program has been in existence less than one year since Pennsylvania Governor Tom Corbett kicked it off in November, 2012. The goal was 200 bikes in the first year and Variety has already distributed more than 300 to children with disabilities throughout Western Pennsylvania. If you would like to sponsor an adaptive bike for someone or would like more information, please visit Variety's website (www.varietypittsburgh.org) or simply call their office at 412-747-2680.
